

Prof. Athanasios J. Manolis

MD, PhD, FESC, FAHA, FACC

Short CV

Athanasios Manolis is the Director of the Cardiology Department, Metropolitan Hospital, Piraeus, Greece, Adj. Clinical Professor of Medicine, Emory University, Atlanta, GA, USA, Adj. Assistant Professor of Hypertension, Boston University, USA

He has experience in all aspects of Hypertension, Coronary Heart Disease, Heart Failure, and Atrial Fibrillation.

He has been Past President of the Mediterranean Association of Cardiology and Cardiac Surgery, Council member of the European Society of Hypertension, Past President of the Working Group “Hypertension and Heart“ of the European Society of Cardiology, Past President of the Hellenic Society of Hypertension, President of 2014 Joint meeting of ESH/ISH, Athens, Greece.

He is Associate Editor of the European Journal of Internal Medicine and Member of the Editorial Board in 5 Journals in the field of Hypertension and Cardiology.

He has been involved in more than 80 multicenter trials as national coordinator or principal investigator.

He has published more than 30 chapters in medical books and more than 350 papers in peer reviewed International Journals with an Impact Factor > 1.500 and Citation Index > 55.000. He has given more than 1.500 lectures in International Meetings in more than 80 countries.